

He Remembers

The scar of sincere love and trust
Cuts deep through my heart's crust.

Fulfilling things they needed,
I was being taken for granted.
One moment everyone is here with me,
Then another they do nothing but flee.

The trace of sacrifice was nowhere to be found,
And to my own anxiety was I so tightly bound.

But God has shown me a glimpse
Of the loneliness Jesus had to face
When He was crucified on the cross,
When just a few grieved the loss.

Until then my love felt like a failure
And all of my effort seemed useless;
Yet even Jesus' unconditional favour
Had people saying that it's reckless.

Though it seemed like I have wasted my time,
In God, our pain becomes something sublime.

Our God knows and remembers.
Isn't that what matters the most?
When the only thing left are the embers
Of love that seems forgotten and lost.
