

Biking At the Beach

My dad picked up my two nice friends,
We zoomed quickly around the bends.
We saw the waves just out of reach,
They made lots of sound at the beach.

They quickly came to us on land,
It engulfed the yellow wet sand,
I thought we would become very tanned,
We travelled through the far-off land.

We abruptly and quickly stopped,
We all got ready to hop out,
Out of the large white truck we plopped,
With our trusty gear we did shout.

We hopped on our fast, fun, blue bikes,
We rode our fast bikes on the beach,
And we went on a few hikes,
And we ate our juicy peach.

My dad looked on his cool, new phone,
We all felt a kind of low though,
Sadly, we had to leave, go home,
We all went into the truck slow.

By Brooklyn Knight

