

Memories of Silence

Time could never bring me back to you.

But perhaps we will meet again, where the sky ends

And where the eternity begin.

We romanticize the stars,

Just to forget the dark is what made them visible

I'm still searching for you in the midst of the stars

I wonder where

You could be now.

But in the end

People don't remain as they were

We became part of memories

Crumble

Still, I love you deeply

Sometimes is not about the happy ending.

Maybe it's about the story.

The story of us

That left me clueless of what will happen from now

But just know

My love is bigger than my hatred towards you

For 8 years we've spent together

To you my beloved friends whom I love the most..