A Frangipani in my garden. I took the photo of the Frangipani and used it for reference, along with some Pinterest photos.

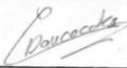

List the materials and tools used in completing your project:

The materials I used was a Bic 0.7mm HB clutch pencil, with a Ohuhu Marker Pad as the sketchpaper. I couldn't find a good sketchbook so I'm just using a marker pad. Or I'll use a Reno Art diary in case the marker pad doesn't qualify.

Describe the step-by-step procedures used to complete your project:

First, I would start with sketching the main branch, then I add little branches for small leaves or buds. Then I draw the leaves all over each end of the branch. I make sure they are all different sizes. Then at the end of the branches I tightly rub them off so I can draw a structure of the Frangipani, then I rub off the structure and trace over it and add little details. Last of all, I carefully shade the drawing and add final details. Then I sign my artwork.
