

In the Stillness

by Katy Kauffman

In the stillness when it's just You and me
I can be candid, I can be free
To express what I'm feeling and going through
I don't have to hide anything from You

The doubts and worries slip away
My heart smiles when I start to pray
I can see Your face again and hear Your voice
I realize once more that I have a choice

I can look for the good and treasure Your work
I can help others even when I hurt
You're taking care of me every day
I'm never alone, here with me You stay

In the stillness where some crave noise
I regain my strength, I regain my poise
I can stand tall on Your promises and Word
I can move forward because Your voice I've heard

So never let me get too busy not to be still Keep me humble, mold my will
That I may follow You and serve You with all I am
That I may be useful to Your plan
