

Mrs. Emerald: Of course.

Michael: Is the job full-time or part-time?

Mrs. Emerald: It's a full time position.

Michael: What are the working hours?

Mrs. Emerald: Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. That's forty hours a week.

Michael: What's the salary?

Mrs. Emerald: $9,500 a month.

Michael: That sounds great. Are there any benefits?

Mrs. Emerald: Yes, we provide health insurance, yearly bonuses, and paid vacations.

Michael: That's perfect. When can I start?

Mrs. Emerald: When will you be ready to join?

Michael: I need two days to wrap things up at my current job.

Mrs. Emerald: No problem. Be here before 8:30 a.m. on your first day.

Michael: Absolutely! I'll be on time.

Mrs. Emerald: See you soon.

Michael: Looking forward to it ma'am!

~~~~~ END ~~~~~

Michael: Here you go.

Mrs. Emerald: Excellent! You scored A+ in most of your courses. What are your strengths?

Michael: I'm creative, focused, and very adaptable. I'm also good at teamwork.

Mrs. Emerald: How many words can you type in a minute?

Michael: I can type 55 words per minute.

Mrs. Emerald: What are your weaknesses?

Michael: Sometimes I take too many tasks at once. I'm learning to delegate better.

Mrs. Emerald: What's your biggest weakness?

Michael: I get nervous when I speak in front of large crowds.

Mrs. Emerald: That's something you can improve with time. How do you manage situations when you have a lot of work?

Michael: I set clear priorities, make to-do lists, and stay focused. I sometimes work late to finish important tasks.

Mrs. Emerald: Where do you see yourself in the next five years?

Michael: I see myself as a senior manager here, leading a strong marketing team and launching global campaigns.

Mrs. Emerald: Your background is impressive. You have experience and a positive attitude. I think you're the right person for this job.

Michael: Thank you ma'am. I'll do my best.

Mrs. Emerald: Congratulations! You got the job!

Michael: That's amazing- thank you so much!

Mrs. Emerald: Do you have any questions about the job?

Michael: Yes, I have few questions. May I ask?

DRAMATIC DIALOGUE

(Work Interview)

Mrs. Emerald: Good morning.

Michael: Good morning.

Mrs. Emerald: I'm Mrs. Emerald. I'm the head of this company.

Michael: Nice to meet you, ma'am. I'm Michael.

Mrs. Emerald: Nice to meet you too, Michael. How did you find out about this job?

Michael: I saw a post on LinkedIn.

Mrs. Emerald: Tell me something about yourself.

Michael: I'm from New York. I have an MBA from Stanford University. I graduated in 2019. I'm currently working as a marketing specialist.

Mrs. Emerald: Where are you currently working?

Michael: I'm working at Bluesky Marketing Agency.

Mrs. Emerald: What is your role there?

Michael: I lead the digital campaigns and support my team with client strategies. I also analyze market trends.

Mrs. Emerald: How long have you been working there?

Michael: I've been working there for three years.

Mrs. Emerald: Why do you want to leave your current job?

Michael: I'm ready for new challenges and want to grow in a larger company.

Mrs. Emerald: What are your qualifications?

Michael: I have an MBA degree and a certificate in digital marketing.

Mrs. Emerald: May I see your CV?