

A Quiet Grace

God's peace is quiet like the dawn,
Soft when the darkest night feels long.
It doesn't shout, it doesn't rush,
It meets the soul in gentle hush.

When worries rise and hearts feel weak,
His peace is there, so calm, so deep.
It holds you close, it lets you rest,
A steady calm within your chest.

Not found in noise or fleeting things,
But in the hope His presence brings.
Through every storm, through every place,
You'll find His peace in silent grace.

When paths are unclear and faith feels small,
His peace still answers every call.
A quiet strength, a steady light,
That carries you through every night.

In every tear and whispered prayer,
You'll find His gentle presence there.
A calm that time cannot erase,
A lasting gift of boundless grace.

So breathe it in, and let it stay—
God's peace will guide you day by day.
