

Observant

To be observant is to see,

To see the things beyond above

To view with the things God had given

To see yourself and others change

To see things in the light

To understand is to capture and take in the lessons

To see beyond the horizon, is the key to see

The understanding to see is to see for yourself

To be observant is to view the view in a way,

The way being is to see the light and the void

The way of being observant is to be like the ocean,

As in to be as calm and thoughtful as the waves

To those who hath not been the stars

To the one's who never were an eagle,

The right thing to do is to be observant

The right way must be observant

To observe is to see from afar and take actions when needed

The way of observant, is too gravitate and pull in

The observant way will see through any lights, dark, and void

To observant is to have faith and an open eye
